IN BOSTON MARKETS.

Demand for Butter Is Generally Dull at Present.

Boston, Sept. 23.—The receipts of butter are still large and the demand generally is dull, but the receipts run largely to medium and low grade goods, and a very firm market still prevails for strictly fancy table stock. Fine northern creamery holds at 25 1/2c for the general run of offerings, with special marks running up to 26c. Medium and low grades range from 24c down to 18c. The reports from the latter market are that the market is firm and tending higher in response to the strength at primary markets. At Canton, N. Y., on Saturday sales were at 12 1/2c, while at Watertown the offerings sold at 12 1/2c @ 12 3/4c, and a few sales were made at 12c. The reports from the latter market are that the market is very dry owing to the lack of rain during the past two weeks and that the dairymen are using green corn fodder quite liberally. The demand for eggs is not very large or active, but the receipts are correspondingly small and a firm market prevails, especially for the best goods.

Designing Next Year's Planting.

As your shrubs, perennials and annuals blossom planting plans for next year may best be devised. When the flowers are in bloom their effect may be noted, and the change to be wrought by new plants may be accurately calculated. That is the time to get out notebook and catalogue, figure out what your flower beds and shrubbery borders lack and decide what may best supply that lack.

If a plant flowering shrub is needed at a certain point, make a note of it in your book; better still, stick up a little stake in the exact spot where the shrub would look best, marking on the stake the specifications, whether the plant should be tall or low growing, the season of flowering, etc. Then when you order your shrubbery for fall planting your nurseryman can fill your specifications, and when the plant comes you will know the exact place to plant it.

In grouping your plants take pains to make them fit in with the neighboring architecture. The texture of the foliage, the color of the flowers, season of bloom and the rapidity of growth should all be considered carefully. Do not plant shrubs so close together when they are young that when they attain a few years' growth they will be crowded.

DWARF APPLES.

They Will Be Grown on Account of Their Convenience.

G. T. Powell of Columbia county, N. Y., has been conducting some interesting experiments on the value of dwarf apple trees in business orchards. It is the idea of Mr. Powell that trees of a low habit of growth will be required more and more because of the need of convenience for spraying and harvesting. The scale insects make it almost impossible to thoroughly treat large trees, and the cost of labor makes a saving at harvesting time of great importance.

Two styles of dwarf trees are under trial. The so called Paradise is very dwarf and is short lived. The Doucin stock is half dwarf, making trees sixteen to eighteen feet high, and promises good results in commercial orcharding. The trees are planted two or three inches below the union of stock and top. In Mr. Powell's orchard the trees of Paradise stock are set as fillers between those of the larger dwarf kind. The rows in the orchard are twenty feet apart and the trees ten in a row. The wide spaces between the rows allow plenty of room for cultivation by horsepower, while the trees in the rows will be thinned out as soon as they become crowded.

The dwarf trees give fruit in a few years from planting, and the amount gradually increases. The small dwarf kind lasts six to eight years and the semi-dwarfs for about twenty years. For dwarf trees the Spitzenberg, Jonathan and McIntosh are found successful. They produce fruit of very fine appearance and quality, suitable for packing in boxes for the choicest trade. For the half dwarfs the Northern Spy, Roxbury Russet, Twenty Ounce, Astrakhan, Baldwin and Greening are satisfactory.

The dwarf trees must receive good culture, with plenty of plant food and careful cultivation. The soil is plowed and harrowed in the spring and is kept in a cover crop of clover during the summer. Scale and other insects are easily treated in the dwarf orchards. The idea appears so promising to Mr. Powell that he is pruning his larger trees on the dwarf plan, cutting back the tops of the standard trees in order to cause them to spread out and to remove the high-parts of the tree, which make so much difficulty in spraying old trees.

The Louise Bonne Pear.
A good midseason pear, the Louise Bonne, is one of the best known market varieties and has always been popular in various localities because of its great productiveness and general good qualities. The tree is hardy everywhere that pears succeed, and it does well either on natural pear stock or on the quince. It is a vigorous upright grower and very productive, especially if grown in deep rich loam, which is its favorite soil.

The fruit is large and yellowish green in color, with a slight tinge of brownish red. The flesh is white, fine grained and juicy, with pleasant aromatic flavor. It is a good dessert pear and also suitable for market or distant shipment.

It ripens in September and early October, just before the Sheldon. Bartlett, Louise and Sheldon make a succession of high grade market pears. It is a pear of French origin, but is highly recommended on the official list of the department of agriculture as suitable for the New England and middle states.
